

City Bid for Crime Funds Rejected

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has rejected the notion that federal crime-fighting funds should be channeled directly to the cities.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said Thursday funds for law-enforcement assistance programs will continue going to the states, whose officials, he said, are in the best position to determine where the money is needed most.

Mitchell, appearing before a Senate subcommittee, rejected the request of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that states be bypassed—at least temporarily—to get the money directly to the cities.

The attorney general supported additional block grants to the states as provided in the 1968 crime-control law which established the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under his jurisdiction.

Under the act, states are required to develop plans for improvement of their systems of criminal justice, including police forces, courts and correctional institutions, before receiving federal grants.

Kennedy, in urging direct grants to cities, said hundreds of municipalities are willing to pay their share of anti-crime programs and Congress is willing to appropriate the money.

He asked, "Why we don't get about it" rather than wait for the development of statewide plans? He suggested this be done for at least two or three years "while the states are getting the wrinkles out of their programs."

But Mitchell testified he is "very much for continuation of the program as it is structured." He said he believes the cities will receive an appropriate share of the federal grants through the states.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., supported Mitchell's position.

The subcommittee is considering a House-passed bill authorizing appropriation of $650 million in the fiscal year that started July 1 for the law enforcement assistance grants. This compares with $268 million last year.

Kennedy noted the administration had requested only $480 million for this year and asked, "Why is the figure so cautious, so conservative, so low in comparison to the need and the requests of the states?"

Mitchell told him he is not opposed to the $650 million authorization approved by the House and will ask Congress for even more if it turns out the states can use the money effectively.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Luke A. Moorman, Jr., chairman of the Pulaski County Democratic Committee, filed an absentee ballot form Thursday with the Pulaski County Clerk making no provision for voting for positions on the county committee.

Moorman said the ballot was the only legal ballot that could be filed at this time and that Thursday was the deadline for submitting the absentee form.

In filing the ballot form, Moorman defied a state Democratic Party directive which ordered the county committee to abandon a plan to increase the committee membership from 271 to 712. The state committee ordered the county committee to conduct an election for 255 contested positions, rather than 712 uncontested posts.

Moorman said Thursday, however, that he could not comply with that directive because the directive would require him to violate the state law.

Robert Compton of El Dorado, a Democratic candidate for governor, appeared with Moorman. Compton said he had been employed as Moorman's attorney.

Compton said the Arkansas Election Code established that he was the last date for drawing names of candidates for positions on the ballot. The state committee's decision calling for contested county committee positions made it legally impossible to draw the law

Cecil Fincher Family Honored by U.S. Navy

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Fincher of 215 N. Louisiana St., Hope, were presented a certificate of appreciation by Texarkana Navy recruiter Louie E. McGuffie, petty officer first class, for services rendered to the U.S. Navy Recruiting Service. All four of the Fincher's children have served or are now serving in the Navy.

The certificate reads: "In recognition of outstanding service, the U.S. Naval Recruiting Service awards this certificate of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Fincher for public-spirited cooperation in furthering the excellent relations between the U.S. Navy and the people of this community."

After leaving Hope, Rev. Lewis pastored a number of churches in North Texas, and eventually became the District Superintendent of the North Texas Council of the Assemblies of God. By virtue of this position, he was also the President of the Southwestern Assemblies of God College at Waxahatchie, Texas.

Wanting to get back into pastoral work, Rev. Lewis accepted the pastorate of the First Assembly of God church in North Little Rock, one of the larger Assemblies in Arkansas.

He had been pastor of the First Assembly of God church in Wichita Falls before becoming District Superintendent.

Funeral services were to be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Assembly of God Church in Wichita Falls.

Rain Showers Wash Down Smog Level

Rain showers had washed down smog levels over the Eastern Seaboard today after a week-long air pollution threat that brought a presidential call for prompt legislative action.

Pollution alerts or warnings were rescinded in Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. New York City continued its alert but relaxed some restrictions on the use of incinerators.

At a news conference Thursday night in Los Angeles, President Nixon took note of the pollution threat caused by a stationary air mass over the East for the past week.

"In some ways it is fortunate the East Coast saw the problem in this severe manner," he said. "It shows there is not much time left to solve it."

Nixon said the federal government would take strict action to see that none of its installations added to the problem and he urged industry to use nonpolluting fuels as much as possible.

New York's electrical power problem also eased Thursday as lower temperatures reduced the air conditioning drain on available electricity and consumers cut back on other usage.

since the decision was rendered eight days after the deadline for drawing for ballot positions, Compton said.

Moorman said that violating the law would constitute a misdemeanor, subjecting him to both fine and imprisonment as well as removal from office as election commissioner.

The county committee voted July 21 to change the apportionment, which in effect expanded the number of positions from 271 to 712 to allow for all candidates to be elected without opposition, thus eliminating the 255 contested races.

A liberal faction of the committee appealed to the state committee, which Wednesday decided that adding positions to the county committee violated Democratic party rules.

Compton said there was no plan for Moorman to file a supplemental ballot listing the 255 contests. Compton said Moorman had not asked for an official legal opinion from the attorney general to reaffirm Compton's opinion because the opinion did not need reaffirming.

Charles Matthews, chairman of the state committee, said he would begin contacting as many members of the state committee as possible to get a consensus on what the members thought should be done. Matthews said he would have a statement today.

Borman May Head Space Agency

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Frank Borman, commander of the first manned spacecraft to circle the moon, is a front-runner in capital speculation about who will be named boss of the nation's space agency.

Borman left active duty with the Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration July 1 to become a vice president of Eastern Airlines.

His name is cropping up frequently in official circles as among those who might be named by President Nixon to succeed Thomas O. Paine, who resigned Tuesday to return to private business.

Others mentioned include George Low, NASA deputy administrator; Dr. Werner von Braun, the No. 4 man at the agency; Dr. Homer E. Newell, associate administrator; Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, former Apollo program manager and now commander of the Air Force Space and Missiles System Organization; Dr. Hilliard Paige, one time president of General Electric Co.'s space division and Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr.

Borman, 42, was at President Nixon's side during the Apollo 11 moon landing flight and accompanied the President to watch the splashdown of the spacecraft in the Pacific. After retiring as an active astronaut, Borman was field director for the orbiting space station program—the next phase in America's space program.

Borman joined the airline only a month ago and is scheduled to attend an advanced management program at Harvard University in September. His office said he was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

There has been no word from the Western White House on the President's choice, and Paine, at a news conference, would not speculate on his successor.

Official circles believe the President will need to choose a new administrator quickly because the agency's 1972 budget proposals must be in by the end of August. Decisions will need to be made on future goals in preparing the budget.

Paine himself was acting administrator for five months while the search went on for a top man. He was finally chosen after at least six men turned down the job. It was known at the time that President Nixon wanted a Republican—and Paine was a Democrat.

Low, an aeronautical research scientist, has been with NASA and its predecessor agency since 1949. But the Austria-born Low, 44, is considered a colorless individual who, as one source put it, "is not the kind of guy who could go in and inspire Congress."

Von Braun, thought a more likely prospect, is an impassioned advocate for space, but his background as developer of Germany's World War II rockets is held against him by many.

Seamans was known to have turned down the job previously. He was considered a persuasive spokesman before Congress when he was deputy administrator under James Webb—Paine's predecessor. But it is considered unlikely that he would leave his job as Air Force secretary to head the troubled space agency.

Newell, the NASA No. 3 man, also is considered colorless—a scientist more interested in applications and scientific rewards from space. He has not been close to the manned flight program.

Phillips left NASA to return to the Air Force, his first love. He took the job with the Apollo program to help straighten it out after the disastrous launch pad fire that killed three astronauts and then returned to the Air Force.

Dr. Paige is now vice president and group executive for GE's Information Systems Division in New York. He would probably take a cut in pay for the $42,500 administrator's job.

It is known that one of the reasons for Paine's return to General Electric is financial. His new salary has not been announced but it is bound to mean a healthy pay increase for a man who has four children in college and private schools.

"What the Congress enacted as a sound and well conceived federal program has apparently been turned against the very people it was designed to assist," Patman told Romney.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators have uncovered evidence that a federal program designed to help poor people buy homes has been used by speculators to make fat profits on slum housing.

The investigators said FHA appraisers have approved substandard housing as eligible for the program where the government subsidizes interest payments so the poor can afford to buy homes. Housing involved is supposed to be decent, safe and sanitary.

In a letter to Housing Secretary George Romney, House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., charged that the evidence raises the spectre of "a national scandal of the most sordid type."

A spokesman for Romney said Patman's letter had been received but the secretary would have no comment until after the charges were studied.

The investigation was carried out in two cities—Washington and Philadelphia—by the staffs of Patman's committee and the House Select Committee on Crime.

"If these two cities are typical of the rest of the nation, then the operation of the program is nothing short of scandalous," said an investigations summary attached to the Patman letter.

The summary said that more than 120 houses sold under the FHA 235 program had been checked in Washington and reports on 13 houses in Philadelphia were attached.

"In both Philadelphia and Washington there has been visual inspection of these homes," the report said. "They are slums. Plaster is cracked and falling, wallpaper is peeling, wiring is faulty, wood is rotten, plumbing is corroded and leaking, furnaces have been condemned, ceilings have fallen in, roofs leak, hot water tanks are bad, rats, etc., etc."

"It is our understanding that where existing housing is sold, minimum FHA standards must be met. Moreover, FHA appraisers are supposed to check these houses for defects and to order and inspect repairs before approval. Obviously this has not been done."

In one example in Southeast Washington, Banking Committee investigators checked a house which had been purchased by a speculator for $9,000 and sold four months later under the FHA program for $17,500.

"Housing inspectors found 24 housing code violations—peeling paint, missing plaster, holes in walls, no cranks to open windows," the report said. "Defective door lock, missing guard rail for porch steps and defective plumbing."

"What the Congress enacted as a sound and well conceived federal program has apparently been turned against the very people it was designed to assist," Patman told Romney.

Arsenic and Lead Feared in Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary tests show substantial amounts of lead and arsenic are being poured into Louisiana waterways, federal water quality officials have disclosed.

Although they declined Thursday to provide details on the report which apparently is the first of its kind, government witnesses advised a Senate subcommittee their preliminary tests are being verified now.

The discovery of lead and arsenic was made while waters were being checked for mercury pollution.

Meanwhile, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the subcommittee chairman, said at the end of the second day of hearings into mercury pollution that steps are needed "to repair existing gaps in our environmental protection system."

House Would Force Wage-Price Control

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — House members squared off today for a bitter partisan battle over giving President Nixon standby power to freeze prices and wages temporarily—authority he says he neither needs nor wants.

Republicans contend the proposal is a purely political one designed to harass the administration.

Some of them are mounting a counterattack—an amendment that would put the freeze into effect by congressional action, without involving the President. They argue that if the Democratic Congress thinks controls are needed, it should take the responsibility—and any blame for them.

Democratic House leaders, however, are backing the standby version. Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee, principal sponsor of the measure, said he does not think controls are needed at present, but, "I'm willing to give the President a shotgun in the corner to use if he has to."

The provision was written by the Banking Committee, divided on party lines, into a bill to extend the Defense Production Act, authority for the government to control defense-important materials and facilities. The act expires at midnight, but the House passed Thursday a 15-day extension to allow time for both branches of Congress to complete action on regular extension legislation.

The measure would give the President discretionary authority to freeze prices and wages at any levels not lower than those prevailing last May 25, when the bill was introduced. The authority would expire Feb. 28, 1971.

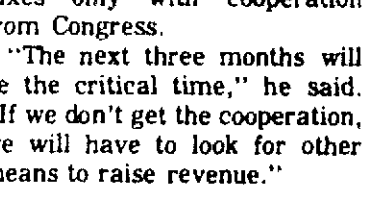

Republican nerves have been rubbed raw by continuing attacks on Nixon's economic policies, which Democrats describe as contributing both to continued inflation and increased unemployment. Specifically, Democrats have been castigating Nixon for not using broad powers voted last year to control and direct credit. The administration opposed this grant of standby authority also.

Democrats have been irritated by Nixon's repeated chiding of Congress for exceeding his spending figures and what he has termed inaction on other proposals, including crime legislation.

Nixon told a news conference Thursday night that the nation can avoid inflation and higher taxes only with cooperation from Congress.

"The next three months will be the critical time," he said. "If we don't get the cooperation, we will have to look for other means to raise revenue."

Air Force Transport Falls, 6 Die

PIGGOTT, Ark. (AP) — All six crew members of an Air Force C-130 Hercules transport plane were killed Thursday night when the aircraft crashed and burned about one mile southwest of here.

The only victim identified as M. Sgt. Charles A. Carver III of Wilkes Barre, Pa. He was stationed at the Little Rock Air Force Base. Names of the other victims were being withheld, however, three were believed to be assigned to temporary duty at Little Rock from Dyess AFB in Texas. One of the victims was in the Navy and the sixth crewman was stationed at Little Rock.

The aircraft, attached to the 442nd Combat Training Wing at Little Rock, was on a routine training mission over Northeast Arkansas, according to Capt. Jason Kappanade, information officer at I.RAFB.

An eyewitness to the crash, Joe Tate, who lives about an eighth of a mile from the crash, said the aircraft was on fire and a wing fell off before the plane hit the ground.

"I heard the engines cutting out and I got my wife and kids in the house as quick as I could," Tate said.

One engine fell off in flight and smashed into the home of Roy Book, who also lives near the crash site. The engine did not injure anyone in the house, but it did start a fire. Book said he put out the flames.

Officials at nearby Blytheville Air Force Base sent a recovery squad and security unit to the scene.

The crash knocked out power and telephone service in the Piggott area for some time. Persons as far away as nine miles reported hearing an explosion as the plane crashed.

Price Fired for Absences from Job
TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver said Thursday that John Price had been fired from the position of deputy commissioner of the state Department of Correction and as director of a staff training and recruitment project.

Sarver said the project represents "the whole future of the corrections system in Arkansas and must be done right, with total effort every day, and more." Price had been on the project only two weeks.

The commissioner explained that Price was fired because of the latest in a history of absences from his position in the prison administrative structure. Sarver said that Price's absences are related to a personal problem. He declined to elaborate.

Price, 50, could not be reached for comment.

The training project, funded by a $282,000 federal grant, is aimed at upgrading the prison staff in line with U.S. District Court orders that followed a ruling in February that the prisons were operated in an unconstitutional manner.

Sarver said Price was absent from his Pine Bluff office all day Tuesday and could not be located. Price also was absent from the office for most part of Monday, the previous Friday and a good portion of Thursday, the commissioner said.

Fenwick to Bell Phone School

T.B. Fenwick, telephone repeaterman for Southwestern Bell at Hope is attending a four-day training session in Little Rock at the telephone company's technical training center.

He will attend classes covering practical maintenance of telegraph services, including teletype, teletext, and control circuits operating over both private lines and the Direct Distance Dialing network.

"The classes are being held for those who now have telegraph service maintenance responsibilities, but who may have had little or no experience with those duties recently," Larry Walters, plant personnel supervisor, said.

The training session began Tuesday and will continue through Friday.

Walters said the current training schedule will handle about 32 craftsmen, like Fenwick, in five classes continuing through August 14.

"The training center in Little Rock is in operation throughout the year with approximately 250 men being trained annually," Walters said.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Where have all the MGM treasures gone? To make money for enterprising showmen all over the United States and Canada.

In fact, the sets, props and costumes of the nearby Culver City studio are still going. A retail sale has been in progress following the much-publicized auction. The new MGM bosses requested auctioneer David Weisz to soft-pedal the sale; the auction had already made the company seem to be on its last legs.

The MGM artifacts, which had been in warehouses at the studio, will be turning up in the strangest places. For instance, if you attended Klondike Days in Edmonton, Sask., you could see a Garbo hat, Grace Kelly's gown from "The Swan," Ronald Colman's costume from "Kismet" and Elizabeth Taylor's hoopskirt from "Raintree Country."

They are part of a Movieland Glamorama show organized by two veteran Hollywood showmen, Al Rogell and Art Arthur. Housed in two large trailers, the exhibit will tour state fairs and other events.

Among the other MGM memorabilia: miniature British bombers from "Mrs. Miniver," MGs from "Ice Station Zebra," Chinese junks from "Majesty."

Another traveling exhibit has been organized as the Movie Museum. Four trailers will house a wealth of film props, from statuary of "Ben-Hur" to the time machine from "The Time Machine."

Debbie Reynolds an old MGM hand, did some spirited bidding at the auction. "I think at least some of these fine old things ought to stay in Hollywood to benefit the industry," she argued.

She got backing for $100,000 worth of goods to open a museum in the Garden Court Apartments, near Grauman's Chinese Theater on Hollywood Boulevard. Museum proceeds will be earmarked for the Motion Picture and Television Relief Fund, the industry's chief charity.

Eden's Rivers

According to the Bible, four rivers watered the Garden of Eden—Pishon, Gihon, Hiddekel and the Euphrates. Only the last one retains its original name as recorded in the Book of Genesis.

Television and Radio

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — NBC's "Laugh-In" has swung into production for its third season, confounding the cynics who predicted it couldn't stand the pace for more than a few shows.

The producers are determined to mend with a half dozen new faces the holes left by the departure of two stalwarts, Goldie Hawn and JoAnne Worley.

While the novelty and shock value of the series has worn off, it has maintained its enormous popularity. It continues to make comedy stars of a lot of young performers.

Judy Carne, fleeing buckets of water and "Sock It To Me," was the first to depart—and last season starred on Broadway. This season Goldie will be continuing a promising film career with a head start based on her show-stealing performance in "Cactus Flower." JoAnne is launched on a night club career and has been signed for a number of guest appearances on top variety hours.

Lily Tomlin, a graduate comedienne of the coffee houses, was the shooting star of last season's "Laugh-In," as her snorting Ernestine, the determined telephone operator, caught on. A perceptive satirist who writes most of her own material, Lily will produce five or six new characters this season including a dreadful 5-year-old, Edith Anne; a college girl, Suzy Sorolty; and "one of those awful loud women who walk into a party and take over."

Originally some nerves were exhibited about Ernestine, whose standard opening was, "Is this the party to whom I am speaking?" After all, Ma Bell is an important NBC client and sometimes corporate senses of humor are on the lean side.

In the case of Ernestine, however, she charmed and amused the brass to a point where Lily was offered a chance at telephone commercials. She declined with sincere regrets.

Over a four- or five-year period when Lily was playing small clubs she worked out endless characterizations, including the breathless bit in which she never finishes a sentence while talking in exclamation points.

A slender, pretty girl who looks startlingly like Shirley MacLaine, she is treated unkindly by the TV cameras. The cameras tack on about 15 pounds to a person's appearance, but in Lily's case they add about 15 years to her age.

Lily fled Detroit for a stab at New York show business in 1965 and struggled along by working as a waitress in a luncheonette.

"If you want to experience sheer terror, try being a waitress just before 11:45 when the office mob hits the place," she recalls.

"I finally got an agent and made one commercial," she said. "Then everything stopped. I was flat broke one day and ready to quit when I opened an envelop and found a check for $800. The blessed commercial—after that it kept me going."

Ask Help in Fight on Lung Ills

How many citizens of Arkansas are willing to devote some of their time this year to help give the breath of life to millions of children suffering from serious, chronic lung diseases?

This is the question asked today by Mrs. Albert Patton, chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign of the Arkansas chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. Mrs. Patton is seeking volunteers to assist during the chapter's annual fund-raising drive to be held from Sept. 13 to Sept. 19.

"More people than ever before are needed this year," she explained. "We are dedicated to finding through research a control for the inherited disease of cystic fibrosis. But therapy is available at the 110 C-F Centers throughout the country for all children with chronic lung diseases, of whom there are more than 5 million. As many as six out of seven children referred to the Centers are diagnosed as having other diseases whose symptoms closely resemble those of cystic fibrosis. Thus the C-F Centers are helping children with cystic fibrosis and also asthma with lung damage, chronic bronchitis, childhood emphysema, bronchiectasis and related diseases."

MICE WANTED
CHRISTCHURCH. New Zealand (AP) — Auditions for potential circus performers are being organized by an entertainment agency manager here, but only mice need apply.

Manager Robert Frost is seeking 50 new players for his 30 sq. ft. mouse circus.

He has more than 40 troupers at the moment but has "more-the-merrier" policy.

"Some of them just hop around a bit, and there's the occasional loafer," he said. "So it pays to have a lot."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

MAN OF HER DREAMS — OR NIGHTMARE?

Dear Helen:
Three years ago I thought my life was just beginning. I met the man of my dreams, fell madly in love. Then my troubles started. You know the old story about saving yourself for your husband? I did, but he never believed it. He says a woman can fake the virginity thing.

When I denied having a previous lover, he'd knock me around. But we always made up. Then he started accusing me of being unfaithful. Every time the fellows would joke about some sexy dame, he'd come home from the bar and accuse me of being her. More beatings! He even beat me once because he said I'd love my children more than I would him — if we had children, which we don't.

Next, he took up with another woman, saying I deserved it. He brought her home one night and I left. Next day he came after me and, because I love him so much, I went home — only to get another beating. My sister saw my bruises and told the family. Now he says I go around trying to get sympathy by telling everybody about our private life.

I'm only 21 and young enough to start over, but I can't stop being hung up on him. He's wonderful when he isn't mean or jealous or stepping out drunk. That's about one-fifth of the time. Am I foolish for hoping thing things will get better? — B.B.N.

Dear B.B.N.:
You're a masochist if you continue "loving" a man who beats you four days out of five. Unless he benefits from professional help (and usually this type won't even seek it) I don't give your marriage much hope. — H.

Dear Helen:
Ministers are supposed to be above reproach. This one isn't. He tells his secretary he is going out to make visitations, then he meets one or another married woman, and not to save their souls.

He even approached me once, saying he would cut a ministerial meeting one day short if I'd meet him in a distant city. I almost feel for his sweet talk—until I found out about the others.

ported by females who think he is in love with them. Oh, he's a spellbinder on Sunday. On other days, he's a spell caster.

Would it be un-Christian to complain to the mother church?—CONCERNED LAYMAN (WOMAN)

Dear Con:
That depends on whether you have proof or a grudge.—H.

Dear Helen:
I've always been on the side of the policemen, figuring the kids exaggerated this "brutality" bit.

But the other day I was standing inside a building when a policeman came over to question some teenagers on a playground. They weren't doing anything wrong, but two boys had long hair. He used a string of four letter words and told them to "Get the——— home." They were just talking. Is this necessary?—D.G.

Dear D.:
No. But it isn't representative either. Why didn't you get this policeman's badge number and report him?—H.

Chiefs 12 Pt. Favorites in All-Star Game

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The 37th All-Star Football Game, glumly overshadowed by pro football's bitter labor impasse, will send the world champion Kansas City Chiefs as a 12-point favorite against the cream of the 1969 collegiate senior crop at Soldier Field Friday night.

An announced strike by the National Football Players Association Thursday in rebuttal to a take-it-or-leave-it move by club owners in a pension scrap cast a pall on the Chicago Tribune's Charity classic which will be televised nationally beginning at 9:30 p.m., EDT.

The owners Wednesday opened their camps to any veterans willing to report after breaking off contract talks Tuesday.

The Chiefs, who won all the pro marbles last Jan. 11 by crushing the Minnesota Vikings, 23-7, in the Super Bowl, have had only five full practice days due to the labor dispute which nearly resulted in cancellation of the All-Star Game.

But the odds makers figures that even with a minimum of preparation, the Chiefs are capable of handing the ex-collegians—most of them headed for pro careers—a seventh straight beating in a series now standing 25-9-2 in favor of the pro champs.

Coach Otto Graham, whose All-Stars recorded the last two collegiate victories in the past 14 years — over the Green Bay Packers in 1963 and the Detroit Lions in 1958 — also has been harassed by the NFL dispute.

Although practicing at Northwestern University since July 10, the All-Stars held a one-day mini-strike in sympathy with the NFL veterans on July 16, and failed to get in a customary game-type scrimmage planned with either the St. Louis Cardinals or Chicago Bears.

"The lack of that pro scrimmage slowed us down tremendously," said Graham, former star quarterback for the old Cleveland Browns and current athletic director at the Coast Guard Academy.

"That type of test against the pros is invaluable in convincing our kids that the pros are only human and can be knocked down with a good block or tackle."

"I only hope now that we don't run scared against the Chiefs until the game reaches the point it is hopelessly lost."

Graham will start Dennis Shaw of San Diego State at quarterback, hoping the nation's collegiate total offense leader of 1969, or Purdue's Mike Phipps can fire the All-Stars as Greg Cook of Cincinnati did last year against the New York Jets.

Cook sparked the collegians to a 17-point third quarter and the Joe Namath-led Jets were fortunate to eke out a 26-24 victory after leading 13-0 against the bewildered All-Stars at halftime.

Graham tossed a coin to decide who would start between Shaw and Phipps, selected third in last January's pro draft behind No. 1 Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech and Notre Dame's behemoth tackle, Mike McCoy.

Quarterback Bradshaw had to quit the All-Star squad because of a leg injury, but McCoy will be one of the big All-Star defensive hopes against the Chiefs.

Shaw, drafted by the Buffalo Bills; Phipps, headed for the Cleveland Browns, and Green Bay Packer-bound McCoy are among Graham's flock of top draft choices, including 21 selected in the first round by the 26 pro clubs.

"Both Shaw and Phipps are very good quarterbacks — as passers and field generals — but but if one gets a hot hand, he'll stay in the game since the idea is to win it," said Graham.

The All-Star offense hinges around Shaw or Phipps hitting such good receivers as Ken Burroughs of Texas Southern; Ron Shanklin of North Texas State, and Jerry Hendren of Idaho, and the running of some sturdy backs, headed by Bob Anderson of Colorado, Art Malone of Arizona State and Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens of Oklahoma.

Graham admits he spent more time than usual in defensive preparations, with almost daily sessions against simulations of the Chiefs' tricky multiple attack as engineered by quarterback Len Dawson.

"We've got to stop them consistently, or else goodbye ball game," said Graham.

The fact the Chiefs now will disband after Friday night's game because of the veteran players strike may work for or against the All-Stars. The Chiefs could be riled enough to pour it on, or distracted to the point of playing routinely.

CHICAGO (AP) — Probable starting offensive lineups for the 37th All-Star Football Game at Soldier Field tonight:

For Second Week Stone Is Unseeded

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — For the second week in a row Allan Stone of Australia is unseeded in a major tennis tournament. That isn't unusual because Stone is not among the world's ranked tennis players.

What is catching the eye of tournament committees and tennis observers alike is the fact that Stone is mowing down nearly everyone he's playing.

Thursday, Stone upset Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia to advance into the quarterfinal round of the $50,000 National Clay Court Tennis Championships at the Woodstock Club.

Just one week ago Stone left a pile of seeded and highly ranked players in his wake before losing to top-ranked Cliff Richey in the finals of the Western Open in Cincinnati.

The victory over Kodes, the French Open champion, came in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1, and close upon the heels of Wednesday's victory by Stone over No. 5 seeded Charles Pasarell, the U.S. Davis Cupper from Puerto Rico.

Another unseeded player, Jaime Fillol of Chile, pulled the only other shocker of the day by eliminating the No. 3 foreign seed, Ilie Nastase of Romania, 6-3, 6-4.

The No. 1 U.S. seed, Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., had little trouble easing past Butch

Jeff Torborg Revealed as Fencebuster

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jeff Torborg, who used to be a no-hit catcher in more ways than one, has shed his mask and revealed himself as a fencebuster.

Torborg, who caught Sandy Koufax' fourth no-hitter five years ago and handled Bill Singer's no-hit gem two weeks ago, poled his first home run since 1967 as Singer and the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Montreal 7-3 Thursday night.

The 28-year-old receiver, a .211 lifetime hitter, crashed a three-run homer in the fourth inning and blooped a run-scoring single in the seventh for the biggest offensive binge of his seven-year career with the Dodgers.

"After I hit that bloop single," he said, "my teammates said that I had moved their defense back after the homer and then tricked them by dropping one in."

Torborg's four-RBI night helped Singer breeze to his fifth consecutive victory for an 8-3 season mark. The hard-throwing right-hander, who bounced back from a spring hepatitis attack and fired a no-hitter against Philadelphia on July 20, checked the Expos on six hits and struck out 10.

In other National League games, Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh 8-4; St. Louis topped Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs trimmed Houston 6-3.

In American League play, Cleveland shaded Minnesota 3-2; Oakland nudged Boston 2-1; Milwaukee beat Washington 6-2 and Kansas City nipped Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings.

Torborg keyed a four-run Los Angeles burst in the fourth with a shot over the left field fence off Dan McGinn after singles by Ted Sizemore and Bill Russell. It was his seventh major league homer.

"I remember the last one," he said. "It was off Rich Nye in Chicago. Don Drysdale was pitching for us."

"Four runs batted in a game is a high for me. I've had three before, but never four."

The home run and single gave him 10 RBI for the year and boosted his batting average 10 points to .227. He has batted .161 and .185 in the past two seasons as a part-time catcher.

Johnny Bench clubbed his 35th homer—high in the majors for two Cincinnati runs; Tony Perez drove in two more with a single and his 31st homer and Lee May cracked a two-run single as the Reds beat southpaw Bob Veale to remain 12 games ahead of the second place Dodgers in the NL West.

The loss trimmed the Pirates' East Division lead over the idle New York Mets to one-half game.

Lou Brock slammed two bases-empty homers and Joe Torre hit a third, leading the Cardinals past Atlanta. Rookie Jerry Reuss shut out the Braves until the ninth, when Clete Boyer kayoed him with a two-run homer.

Johnny Callison homered and Billy Williams drove in his 96th and 97th runs of the season with a single—surpassing by one his total run-production of 1969—as the Cubs pasted the Astros behind Ferguson Jenkins.

Seewagon of Bayside, N.Y., 6-2, 6-3.

Defending champion Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia advanced easily with a 6-4, 3-6, 6-0 victory over Mike Belkin of Canada. Franulovic is the No. 2 foreign seed.

Top-ranked American tennis star and second seed in the Clay Court, Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., defeated Brian Fairlie of New Zealand, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2, while No. 3 Arthur Ashe of Gun Springs, Va., and No. 4 Clark Graebner of New York City also won.

Frew McMillan of South Africa also moved into the quarterfinals with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Patricio Cornejo of Chile.

Racer Banked $75,525, But Not Satisfied

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Richard Petty has banked $75,525 in the last six months, enough to make most 32-year-old executives happy for a whole year.

But the South's No. 1 stock car racing driver says he isn't satisfied with his work, even though he almost certainly will clear the $100,000 mark for the third year in a row.

"Some times I ask myself 'What have you done for Richard Petty lately?' and I tell myself, 'Well, I've done a lot for Richard Petty.' I tell myself I've won nine of the 23 races I've started and I've finished in the top five in half a dozen that I didn't win," Petty said.

"Then I tell myself, well, you should have won three or four of the big ones — the big money, big point races. And I promise myself that I'll do better from here on out."

Petty was among some 40 drivers making qualifying runs at Atlanta Raceway today for starting spots in Sunday's $103,000 Dixie 500.

Petty was to be the first driver off the line at 12:30 p.m. in the run for the Dixie 500 pole position—a plum the biggest money winner in stock car racing doesn't think he can win.

"Several of the boys are running faster than I am, particularly Buddy Baker, Cal Yarborough and David Pearson. I hope I can get a spot well up front but I'm not fast enough to beat hardly anybody on just one lap," Petty said.

The 41 drivers who drew qualifying assignments were shooting for Yarborough's Atlanta lap record of 159.929 mph. Twenty-eight spots in Sunday's 40-car starting field were at stake. The remaining 12 will be filled Saturday morning.

"I'm not the best qualifier around, anyway," Petty said as he struck a comb through his shock of wet, dark hair. "But race day is another thing. There is a big difference in one lap at speed and 328 laps at a speed that can win."

6-Man Battle Royal at Coliseum Aug. 3

COWBOY BRUCE KIRK

Next Monday night, Aug. 3, at Hope's Fair Park Coliseum starting at 8:30, Hope fans can see a six-man blindfold battle royal. Each wrestler will be blindfolded and unable to see his opponent and the winner will receive a $700 added purse. The battle royal will be the last event on the card.

In the first bout Aldo Boggi takes on John Lee; in the second bout, Rugged Ox Baker takes on Chief War Eagle; and in the third bout, Crazy Chuck Karbo battles

Cowboy Bruce Kirk.

Each of these wrestlers are taking a great chance of being hurt and that is the reason the battle royal will be the last event next Monday night at Hope's Fair Park Coliseum.

Tickets are on sale now at the Town & Country restaurant in Hope, so, wrestling fans, make your plans to now to see the roughest championship wrestling event ever held in Hope next Monday night at the Fair Park Coliseum starting at 8:30.

WHEREAS the necessary arrangements have been made with Meyer's Bakery of Little Rock, Inc., an Arkansas corporation ("Meyer's"), for a substantial expansion of Meyer's operations consisting of lands, buildings, improvements, machinery, equipment and facilities for an industrial plant which will be utilized for the manufacturing of such products as Meyer's shall elect to manufacture (the "Project"), and to lease the Project to Meyer's pursuant to the terms of a Lease and Agreement subsequently identified herein and referred to as the "Lease Agreement"; and

WHEREAS Meyer's is a subsidiary of Meyer's Bakeries, Inc., an Arkansas corporation ("Meyer's Bakeries") and Meyer's Bakeries has agreed to unconditionally guarantee performance by Meyer's of its obligations under the Lease Agreement by an instrument identified as the "Meyer's Bakeries Guaranty Agreement"; and

WHEREAS permanent financing of the Project costs, necessary costs and expenditures incidental thereto and to the expeditious commencement of manufacturing operations, the cost of the issuance of bonds and the amount necessary to provide for interest on bonds until Project revenues are available is being furnished by the issuance of Industrial Development Revenue Bonds by the City under the provisions of Act No. 9 in the principal amount of not to exceed Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000) (the "bonds" or Act No. 9 Bonds); and

WHEREAS there has been submitted to the electors of the City the question of issuing the Act No. 9 bonds at a special election, and at said special election the electors approved the issuance of the Act No. 9 Bonds; and

WHEREAS the bonds are dated, bear interest, mature and are subject to redemption as hereinafter in the Indenture set forth in detail;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas:

Section 1. That there be, and there is hereby, authorized and directed the following:

(a) The sale of $250,000 in aggregate principal amount of bonds; and

(b) The execution of all necessary architectural, engineering and construction contracts for the constructing and equipping of the Project, with executed copies of all such contracts to be filed in the office of the Clerk; and

(c) The performance of all obligations of the City under the Lease Agreement pertaining to the constructing and equipping of the Project and the performance of all obligations of the City under the architectural, engineering and construction contracts referred to in (b) above.

(d) The acceptance and execution and delivery of the Company Guaranty Agreement.

Section 2. That to provide for the authorization of and to secure Industrial Development Revenue Bonds of the City under Act No. 9 in the total principal amount of not to exceed $250,000, to provide for the immediate execution and delivery of the bonds, and to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which the bonds are to be secured, executed, authenticated, accepted and held, the Mayor is hereby authorized and directed to execute and acknowledge a Trust Indenture, and the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to execute and acknowledge the Trust Indenture and to affix the seal of the City thereto, and the Mayor and City Clerk are hereby authorized and directed to cause the Trust Indenture to be accepted, executed and acknowledged by the Trustee, with the Trust Indenture, which constitutes and is hereby made a part of this Ordinance, to be in substantially the following form, to wit:

(Advice is hereby given that a copy of the form of Trust Indenture is on file in the office of the City Clerk, and reference may be had thereto by any interested person.)

Section 3. That the Mayor and City Clerk, for and on behalf of the City, be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed to accept the Company Guaranty Agreement (the substantial form of which is on file in the office of the City Clerk) by executing the acceptance thereon.

Section 4. That the Mayor and City Clerk, for and on behalf of the City be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed to do any and all things necessary to effect the execution and acceptance of the Trust Indenture by the Trustee, the performance of all obligations of the City under and pursuant to the Trust Indenture, the execution and delivery of the bonds, and the performance of all other acts of whatever nature necessary to effect and carry out the authority conferred by this Ordinance and by the Trust Indenture. That the Mayor and City Clerk be, and they are hereby, further authorized and directed, for and on behalf of the City, to execute all papers, documents, certificates and other instruments that may be required for the carrying out of this Ordinance and the Trust Indenture, or to evidence that authority and its exercise.

Section 5. That since the City is here involved with the constructing and equipping of a complex industrial project, requiring highly specialized work and specialized types of machinery and equipment, it has been and is hereby determined by the Board of Directors that competitive bidding is not a feasible or practical. Therefore, any requirements under ordinances of the City or under the laws of the State of Arkansas for competitive bidding be, and the same are hereby, waived as to this particular industrial project. This action is taken by the Board of Directors pursuant to applicable laws of the State of Arkansas, including particularly Section 5 of Act No. 28 of the Acts of Arkansas of 1959 (Ark. Stat. § 1967 Cumulative Pocket

ORDINANCE NO. 869

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING a lease and agreement by and between the City Of Hope, Arkansas as Lessor and Meyer's Bakery of Little Rock, Inc., an Arkansas corporation, as Lessee, in substantially the form and with substantially the contents set forth in and made a part of this ordinance; authorizing the execution and delivery of said lease and agreement; prescribing other matters relating thereto; and declaring an emergency

BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas:

Section 1. That there be, and there is hereby authorized the execution and delivery of a Lease and Agreement wherein the City of Hope, Arkansas ("City") is Lessor and Meyer's Bakery of Little Rock, Inc., an Arkansas corporation ("Meyer's") is Lessee, in substantially the form and with substantially the contents hereafter set forth, and the Mayor and City Clerk be, and they are hereby, authorized to execute, acknowledge and deliver said Lease and Agreement for and on behalf of the City. The form and contents of said Lease and Agreement, which are hereby approved and which are made a part hereof, shall be substantially as follows:

(Advice is hereby given that a copy of the form of Lease and Agreement is on file in the office of the City Clerk, and reference may be had thereto by any interested person.)

Section 2. That the Mayor and City Clerk be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed, for and on behalf of the City, to do all things, execute all instruments and otherwise take all action necessary to the realization of the City's rights and to the discharge of the City's obligations as Lessor under said lease and Agreement.

Section 3. That the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be separable, and if any section, phrase or provision shall, for any reason, be declared to be invalid, such declaration shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the sections, phrases or provisions.

Section 4. That all ordinances and parts thereof in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict.

Section 5. That there is hereby found and declared to be an immediate need for the securing and developing of industry within the City in order to provide additional employment and increased payrolls, alleviate unemployment and provide other benefits incidental to the operation of a substantial industry, and the execution and delivery of the Lease and Agreement authorized by this Ordinance are necessary for the accomplishment of these public benefits and purposes. It is, therefore, declared that an emergency exists, and this Ordinance, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, safety and welfare, shall be in force and take effect immediately upon and after its passage.

Transit Fare Increase Is Protested

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fare increase by the largest free-enterprise mass transit system in the nation has sparked burgeoning outcries for public takeover of the line.

It's a matter of eight cents—32 to 40—per ride, enough to pit D.C. Transit principal owner O. Roy Chalk against the District of Columbia government, black leaders, several members of Congress and his own drivers.

Chalk, a wealthy New Yorker, claims the month-old fare boost is necessary to keep the system solvent. Critics say the move discriminates against the poor and the black, who make up the overwhelming majority of riders.

The Rev. Douglas Moore of the Black United Front declares: "We intend to break the back of that bandit bus company." The BUF and several other groups vow civil disobedience campaigns aimed at retraction of the increase, and, ultimately, public ownership.

The Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, former City Council vice chairman and one-time aide to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has urged sympathizers of the Coalition Against D. C. Transit to pay only 25 cents for fares and go to jail before paying the rest. There have been several arrests.

The BUF and the Student Government Association at Federal City College have contracted with a charter bus firm to make 28 inbound and 20 outbound trips a day. Rides are free, but the charter firm is charging BUF $4,200 a week, raised through church and individual donations.

Another protest move calls for riders to pay their fares in pennies. D. C. Transit won't say how much effect the various tactics have had, but holds firm on the fare increase.

Mayor Walter Washington, City Council, the D. C. Democratic Party organization and the BUF also have carried the fight to the courts and Congress. They've had little success, even though the Senate has approved a public buyout.

The proposal remains bogged, however, in the House District Committee, where Chairman John L. McMillan, D-S.C., says, "As long as we can get someone to operate, I'm against public ownership."

And he adds: "Whoever owns it, we're going to have higher fares."

Perhaps. But the mayor's office is investigating the possibility of paying the line interim selective subsidies for poor and aged persons, as now is done for schoolchildren, to lower their fares.

The issues generally are central to those of the mass-transit malaise in other large American cities.

The issue of racial or class discrimination appears particularly acute to Washington.

Most of the 200,000 folks who ride Roy Chalk's buses are comparatively poor; domestic workers, low-level government employees. An overwhelming majority, perhaps 160,000, are black. And most are compacted into the teeming tenement districts of the city itself, riding no more than a few miles to their jobs.

The company has not disputed the claim that the routes serving the inner city made money, even before the fare boost. But D.C. transit also travels the arteries into the white suburbs of Maryland and Virginia, where customers are fewer and overhead greater. And those routes have lost money.

Only one of five suburban commuters uses the bus. Within the city, the ratio is six out of 10, and they're closer together. But the firm says it cannot drop its suburban runs, since they provide a vital service to those who use them. And the drivers' union isn't eager for a reduction in force.

Hence, black leaders complain the fare increase is a case of the poor customers subsidizing the richer ones, by sharing a cost for some losing services they do not use.

The firm says the choice was unavoidable if it was to head off a $3 million setback in the next year.

Chalk professes to see an element of dishonesty in the claim-

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration will propose steps aimed at eventually ending the railroad's practice of dumping raw human waste along the tracks, Commissioner Charles C. Edwards has informed Congress.

But Edwards' testimony Tuesday before a House subcommittee "amounts to a total surrender to the railroad industry," consumer crusader Ralph Nader told the congressional panel headed by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis.

R. R. Manion, representing the Association of American Railroads, said on the basis of a five-year sanitation study 20 years ago "and on the sharply reduced volume of waste since that time, we fail to see that a problem exists."

Edwards said that while he believes "the discharge practice to be antiquated, deplorable and offensive to our sensibilities, I must reluctantly conclude that the evidence required under the Public Health Service Act to link discharge with introduction, transmission or spread of communicable disease from state to state is not present at this time."

Thus, he said, the FDA will propose a rule that rail passenger cars, locomotives and cabooses built after December 1971 be fitted with full retention facilities when sanitation equipment is required.

Nader told the subcommittee the railroads are dumping hundreds of millions of pounds of raw human waste, in a practice he said "allows a unique insight into the intransigence of these corporations and the weak, self-demeaning posture of the Food and Drug Administration toward them."

The railroads have $27.9 billion invested in their industry, Nader said, in estimating it would cost $15 million a year to have the sanitary equipment needed to prevent dumping.

But Manion said it would cost between $80 million and $100 million to make toilet conversions and install facilities to handle retained wastes.

We just got another look at the Lord High Executioner's list of bridge players who never would be missed. The generalissimo's name was displayed prominently.

You all know him. The generalissimo takes complete charge of the bidding in an effort to select the final contract but it is on defense that really sees him taking charge.

Every expert is somewhat of a generalissimo but the experts usually know what they are doing when they take charge and the Lord High Executioner doesn't want to take care of them.

Today's East does belong on that list. He rather wished that he had opened one diamond so that his partner wouldn't have to make a blind lead against three no-trump.

He relaxed a trifle when his partner opened a heart. He had a red a spade or club lead. He was really delighted when his king of hearts held the first trick.

Now he had a chance to set up his diamonds. He slapped the king on the table. South wasted no time putting on his ace and cashing eight tricks in the black suits.

After that East and West had tricks coming out of their ears but with only three cards each they could only collect three of them.

If East hadn't wanted to take control, he could have seen that his only hope lay in the heart suit. His partner had led the seven. South could only hold one card higher than that. Unless it were the ace a heart return would pick that one card up and, if West had led from a five-card suit it would give the defense the first five tricks.

Dumping of Nerve Gas Protested

By HARRISON B. HUMPHRIES

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Several congressmen have charged the Army ignored international law in devising plans to dump more than 3,000 tons of obsolete nerve gas rockets into the Atlantic Ocean.

Other legislators complained the Army had given too short notice of its elaborate plan to transport the dangerous cargo overland before sending it to the bottom of the Atlantic Aug. 10.

In Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, acting Prime Minister Arthur Hanna said, "I've heard nothing of this. If it's in any way dangerous to either fish life or human life, we will be making the strongest protest to the U.S. government."

The Army announced Thursday two trains will start from Anniston, Ala., and Lexington, Ky., carrying the steel and concrete encased weapons to Sunny Point arsenal near Southport, N.C.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., said the United States is obligated by the 1958 Geneva Convention on the law of the sea to consult with international committees before disposing of potentially hazardous pollutants in international waters.

Pell, chairman of the oceanography subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the 10-day notice did not provide time for adequate consultation.

Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y., said the United Nations was not consulted before Thursday's Pentagon announcement and simultaneous briefings for members of Congress and governors of the affected states.

But Army officials said the State Department had been notified, and that clearance on elaborate safety precautions had been obtained from the Interior Department and the surgeon general.

At the North Carolina arsenal, the nerve gas will be loaded onto an old Marine barge, towed out to sea and scuttled with explosives in 1,600 feet of water 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Florida Gov. Claude Kirk said, "I don't believe any briefing in the world will convince me that the gas should be dumped off our coast."

Reps. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., William C. Cramer, R-Fla., and J. Hebert Burke, R-Fla., sent telegrams to Laird asking for consultations before further action. Rogers also called for a congressional hearing.

Scientists reportedly have cautioned the Army that unless the rockets are destroyed, they could explode from pressure of the concrete and steel in which they are encased.

The Army said the overland shipments will avoid major population centers.

The Pentagon said the exact routes will not be disclosed in the interest of security.

HEW Mails Desegregation Plans to Ark.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare put into the mail Thursday desegregation plans for the Watson Chapel and Webb County school districts in Arkansas.

Van Rhee, public information officer of HEW's Equal Education Opportunity Division, said the plans were sent to U.S. District Judge Orin Harris in time to be received by today. Today is the deadline for the plans.

The judge set the deadline with instructions that HEW was to submit desegregation plans for the districts if reaction by the public no matter whether the actual costs were being reported by Rockefeller or Faubus or Hayes McClerkin," Burton said.

"The amounts involved wouldn't be that different, unless the reports were falsified," he said.

A rule in Arkansas politics today, Burton said, is this: "There is no way a man can win a statewide office in Arkansas without resources."

He pointed to a recent full-page advertisement run in newspapers throughout the state by an organization promoting House Speaker McClerkin for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. "The cost of something like that is about $25,000," Burton said. "There is no way to get around it."

"To most of us," he added, "that's a lot of money."

"To run a series of television spots (commercials) involves more money than many of us will earn in our lifetimes," Burton said.

The focus in recent elections has primarily been on spending by Rockefeller, with critics' remarks associated with the fortune the governor inherited.

Some have suggested that between $3 million and $5 million was spent by the Rockefeller organization on the governor's successful 1968 campaign. Burton declined to say how much was spent.

The Rev. R. J. Hampton, who also seeks the Republican gubernatorial nomination, has called for an investigation of Rockefeller's campaign spending this year. Hampton said he has heard that the governor will spend up to $18 million this time. Burton laughed at that figure.

But he would not detail what costs already are being met in the Rockefeller campaign, because of the possibility of an adverse attitude that might result if the public became aware of the totals.

"The voters may be unwilling to accept the fact, so to speak, of how much it costs to win a statewide office," Burton said. "The guy on the street still thinks you can spend $150,000 and get elected, and that just isn't true."

Bob Troutt of Faubus' staff said the Faubus campaign was a "shoestring" operation, but he said he didn't know how much had been spent by the Faubus campaign and allied groups in behalf of the candidate.

Troutt recalled, though, that "local groups" paid the bills when Faubus advertisements were run in newspapers across the state.

"I just don't know how much was involved in that," he said. "That wasn't a part of our campaign expense."

In Burton's view, candidates will not support a move for full and accurate reporting of campaign expenses until "the public is willing to face it and be objective about it."

the districts failed to do so.

Supt. Jim Simpson of the Webb County District said his board would not file a plan and would oppose the HEW proposal. The Watson Chapel District has submitted a plan basically similar to a freedom-of-choice plan HEW has rejected.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The monthly Union service sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance, will be held at Bethel A.M.E. Church Sunday night August 2nd, at 7:30.

Rev. Sanford B. Tollette, pastor of BeeBee Memorial C.M.E. Church will preach.

REV. WYNN TO WRITE SERIES OF COMMENTARIES

Rev. W. G. Wynn, pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church will write a series of commentaries for a limited period of time on issues of current interest and of apparent vital significance. These articles will appear in this column weekly and or bi-monthly, and are designed to reflect only the opinion of Rev. Wynn. No other individual or organizations are represented in the comments and no authoritative responsibility is to be attached either in journalistic style or compositional character, thought and philosophy. To anyone who expresses agreement or disagreement with Rev. Wynn's opinion in these articles, no rebuttal will come from Rev. Wynn.

His commentary for this week is titled: "Does Back to School Mean Advancement for Your Child?"

In a few weeks now the school bells will be ringing, books assigned to students, the corridors congested with human traffic, playgrounds scarred with shoe soles and students and teachers conforming to rigid schedules. We call this Commencement period, "Back to School."

What does back to school mean to you; parents and students? Is school simply a disciplined habit; or are you parents and students really preparing to enter school? Yes, I said parents intentionally as well as students. If your son or daughter is to attend school; I don't mean simple, go to the school campus, building, classroom or library. I mean "go to school!" The school is the total prescribed learning situation prepared at public expense for your child's learning experience from the 1st through the 12th grade.

Therefore, the relationship of you and your child is your responsibility of his total welfare and behavior. The home-school relationship is a natural sequence, though semi-complex. Yes, you must go with your child to school; I don't mean by this that you will journey with your child to the school campus daily and apply yourself to his study and activities schedules. I mean that you must go with your child to school in spirit, interest, motives, home training instructions, concern of study habits and moral behavior and advantageous planning to meet the basic needs of your child's scholastic demands if your child is to realize his maximum potential in school achievements. It is back to school for parents and children alike.

For all school pupils, "back to school" should mean advancement at least in a restricted sense, since most pupils are one grade higher and all pupils are one year older than they were one year ago to any given date. But whether it means advancement or not depends largely upon the manner in which both students and parents relate themselves to the total situation and the attitude that each one assumes in accepting the total responsibility of parent-child relationship as it pertains to scholastic and social adjustment.

To be continued in next week's commentary by Rev. W.G. Wynn.

Israel Given Guarantees by Nixon

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon has given the Israeli government his personal assurance that entering Middle East talks, as he proposed, would not endanger Israel's military position.

Nixon told a television-radio news conference at the Century Plaza Hotel Thursday night that he hopes Israel will join Egypt and Jordan in accepting his proposal for a 90-day cease-fire while negotiations move forward.

Acknowledging that some Israeli officials fear their enemies would take military advantage of a cease-fire, Nixon declared: "If there is a cease-fire, a natural proposition connected with that, a condition with that, is that there will be a military standstill during that period."

The Israeli cabinet has been sharply divided over whether to accept the proposal with members of a right-wing party threatening to resign if it is.

Fielding 18 questions in 29 minutes, Nixon also told the audience of Washington and California newsmen:

"The administration will send federal officials into the South to promote full school desegregation when help is asked. 'We are not going to have forced policy in this area,' he said. 'Our policy is one of cooperation rather than coercion.'"

"The economy will be 'moving upward in the last half of 1970' with inflation being cooled. However, he said, he may have to veto some popular bills if Congress appropriates more than he wants and a request for higher taxes would be used as a last resort to keep the federal budget under control.

He believes his order sending U.S. ground troops into Cambodia increased the prospects for a negotiated peace. He said Washington and Saigon are in agreement on negotiation policy.

The chief executive urged Congress to move quickly to pass his environmental protection measures and, referring to the smog blanket that covered much of the East Coast this week, said: "It was perhaps fortunate in a way that the East Coast saw this problem in such a massive manner. Now we realize that we don't have much time left."

Nixon was asked about the report, made public earlier in the week, in which his special advisers on campus unrest said Nixon had not been paying enough attention to the problems of students and racial minorities.

The President countered that, while the federal government will do what it can to ease campus unrest, "it is a problem which college administrators

Nasser Asks United Front by Arabs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A spokesman for President Gamal Abdel Nasser warned Egypt's Arab critics today to avoid "division in the Arab lines" over the U.S. cease-fire plan Nasser has accepted.

Information Minister Mohamed Hassanein Heikal warned that Israel may undertake a "crazy act" if the Arabs turn their attention to matters other than the "armed struggle with the enemy."

In a full-page editorial in his newspaper, Al Ahran, Heikal defended Nasser's acceptance of the U.S. proposal as "a last chance to settle the Middle East crisis." He criticized as "childish" the stand of "certain Arab elements" opposed to the plan.

Heikal agreed with the Palestinian guerrillas and other Arab opponents of peace negotiations that the U.S. proposal will not succeed in bringing peace. "Nothing will succeed in our struggle with the enemy other than the power of pressure," Heikal said. But he added that if the United States "fails to exert pressure on Israel, at least we shall place ourselves in better conditions internationally and militarily to enable us to enforce this pressure."

Heikal said the current division in the Israeli cabinet over the plan may "drive Israel to undertake a crazy act" against the Arabs, noting that similar division was present in Israel just before the 1967 war.

Meanwhile, Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, praised Nasser for his "high responsibility" in accepting the U.S. peace initiative.

In a slap at Syria, Iraq and the Palestinian guerrillas, it said Nasser had to "overcome extremist sentiments in the Arab world which were caused by the frantic extremism of the Israeli military."

The Israeli cabinet failed again Thursday to reach agreement on the American Peace plan. The cabinet met for five hours—the longest of three sessions this week—in an effort to draft a reply that would satisfy right-wingers who have threatened to quit if the U.S. proposal is accepted.

On the battlefield, Arab gunners in Jordan fired rocket salvos today at the Tel Qazir and Shaar Hagolan settlements south of the Sea of Galilee, but there were no casualties, the Israeli command announced. The fire was returned, it said.

In Beirut, Palestinian publications and communiques said the guerrillas are escalating military operations in all Israeli-occupied territories as an answer to the American peace plan.

The newspaper Al Fatah, which speaks for most of the guerrilla groups, reported 15 operations Wednesday in which Israeli patrols were attacked, outposts and settlements hit by rockets, and installations blown up. The paper said the guerrillas killed six Israeli soldiers and destroyed three Israeli tanks and their crews.

For the same period, Israeli sources reported one Arab bomb attack on a children's dormitory near the Lebanese border, one small clash alongside the Jordan river and only one casualty, an Arab infiltrator.

Scoreless Tie in Football Dispute

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
A scoreless tie existed today in the pro football contract dispute after the veteran players put the owners on the offensive with a coffin-corner kick.

National Football League veterans, almost to a man, refused to report to training camp Thursday after the owners hung out the welcome sign.

It thus appeared to be the owners' move next. "The situation is more critical than people think," said Wellington Mara, president of the New York Giants.

He said his team's scheduled exhibition with Green Bay Aug. 8 would probably be cancelled if the situation isn't settled by this weekend.

"If we lost the exhibition game," said Mara, "we lost $1 million. That money will have to come out of the players' salaries in some way."

When no veterans showed up at the Cincinnati Bengals' camp Thursday, General Manager Paul Brown closed shop. Apparently dismayed over the bitter, sometimes-volatile contract war, Brown said it could mean the end of the 1970 season.

There were only 15 yearlings left in the Bengals' site in Wilmington, Ohio.

Another owner, who asked to remain anonymous, was more optimistic.

"I really don't think we've given them enough time," he said. "Twenty-four hours just wasn't enough time for most players to pack their bags and get to camp."

"I think you'll see their ranks beginning to break up Saturday because if they don't get to camp over the weekend they stand to miss a paycheck for the first exhibition games."

Apparently hoping to undermine the unity of the striking NFL Players Association, owners unlatched their training camp gates Wednesday with the exhibition season only a week away.

There was little reaction. Less than a dozen vets showed up as the star-studded bulk of the NFLPA chose to stay together and stick it out despite the ominous warnings of "no season" from management.

Phil Sobocinski, a virtual unknown free agent who played center for the Atlanta Falcons in 1968, showed up.

"I don't think I'm breaking the strike," said the 6-foot-2, 238-pound Sobocinski. "I'm just a candidate trying to play professional football. 'I am fighting for my football life. I don't think my presence here will have any effect on the strike.'"

Another veteran, Mike Curtis of Baltimore, defied the Players Association, too.

Curtis, Baltimore's No. 1 draft choice in 1965 and an all-league selection two years ago, got a round of applause from the rookies when he appeared at the Colts' training table.

Curtis said he opposed the players' association stand and indicated one reason he reported was because he liked the Colt management and felt he owed them an appearance in camp.

The NFLPA pledged Thursday to stick it out as long as needed to satisfy their demands for a new contract.

John Mackey of the Colts, head of the players' group, announced in Chicago that the veterans were officially on strike. He declared the owners' action of opening camps was a deliberate attempt to split the teams.

But he left the door partially open with this statement: "We are willing to bend if we can get the owners back at the negotiating table—if they are also willing to bend."

The dispute mainly involves pension demands of $28 million over four years by the players and the owners' offer of $18 million. Five days of negotiations with federal mediators broke down in Philadelphia Tuesday.

In reporting to the Falcons' camp, Sobocinski was the exception. He appeared after the team's veterans had met for more than an hour and voted not to report.

Gary Bugenhagen was the only veteran to appear at the Patriot camp as all other players voted to go along with the NFLPA.

Quarterback Dan Darragh of Buffalo, who had said earlier he would report, had a change of mind at the last moment and decided to stay away "in an effort to preserve unity in our group." Thus, no veterans reported to the Bills' camp.

Offensive tackle Tom Sarkisian, formerly of the Philadelphia Eagles and linebacker Bob Print, an ex-San Diego Charger, showed up at the Cleveland Browns' facility.

Houston Oilers veterans voted 38-1 to boycott the team's training camp at Kerrville, Tex. Olen Underwood, the Oilers' player-representative, said it was a secret ballot and added he didn't know who was the lone dissenter.

Free agent Eugene Thomas, a running back who played with Kansas City in 1966 and 1967, was the only veteran reporting to the San Francisco camp.

Punter Bobby Walden, a seven-year veteran, and defensive back Curtis Gentry, who played three years with the Chicago Bears before being obtained as a free agent, were the only experienced men at Pittsburgh's Latrobe, Pa., camp.

Tim McCann, a second-string defensive back, was the only New York Giant in camp. Don Alley and Charlie Waller, a pair of wide receivers, reported to the San Diego camp.

Signs of unrest were evident among pro football's luminaries.

Leroy Kelly, Cleveland's fine running back, didn't show up Thursday—but said he remained undecided whether he'd report later. t 3

Of course, the veterans of the Kansas City Chiefs continued to train for tonight's game with the College All Stars in Chicago under a green light from the NFLPA. But they've vowed to break camp after the charity game if the affair is not settled.

The owners have not scheduled a meeting, but will probably be in Chicago for the game and could be brought together for swift action if need be.

San Antonio 5-2 Over Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Marty Miller doubled in one run in the top of the 12th and Ken Rudolph singled in two more as the San Antonio Missions edged the Arkansas Travelers 5-2 Thursday night.

Veteran Don Nottbart got the victory on four innings of shut-out relief work after he was filled for a pinch hitter with two away in the top of the 12th.

Arkansas shot all of its ammunition on Jose Cruz' two-run homer in the first.

In other league action Amarillo defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 9-7, Memphis edged Shreveport 3-2 and El Paso defeated Albuquerque 6-4.

Caps Become Virginia Squires

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The American Basketball Association's Washington Caps this fall will become the Virginia Squires and the state's first major league franchise in any sport.

Reports that the Caps would shift to the regional franchise, playing home games at four cities around the Old Dominion, were confirmed here Thursday when ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph gave Caps owner Earl M. Foreman his new franchise certificate.

Moving to Virginia under merger arrangements between the ABA and the National Basketball Association, the Squires will have headquarters in Norfolk and offices in Hampton, Richmond and Roanoke, the other cities where they will play.

Top Four Seeds in Quarterfinals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The top four seeds in the $25,000 Louisville Tennis Classic, including Australians John Newcombe and Rod Laver, entered the quarterfinals today, after breezing through their opening rounds with easy victories.

However, none of the favorites will be pitted against each other, assuming they continue their domination of the event, until the semifinals and finals this weekend.

Not Sorry He Wrote Golf Book

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — If Frank Beard is getting a freeze from his fellow pros because of his controversial, revealing book on the golf tour, he's not letting it affect his sleep—or his game.

"No, I'm not sorry I wrote it," the bespectacled, 31-year-old author said today. "I think much of the book was misconstrued and some taken out of context."

"I don't consider it a kiss-and-tell type of book that invades the privacy of anybody. It's an honest report on the tour. I said we're not one big happy family—that we have our own habits and separate interests it's all true."

Beard, defending champion in the $250,000 Westchester Classic here this weekend, is off to a good start with an opening round 68, just a stroke off the pace set by Australian Bruce Crampton, Larry Hinson, Tommy Jacobs, Hugh Royer and Brian Barnes, all tied at 67.

His literary efforts and the reaction haven't noticeably upset the mild, business-like craftsman from Louisville.

"I've won $2,468 this year and I'm 12th in the money list," Beard said. "I can't complain too much about that."

Beard was the tour's leading money winner in 1969 with more than $175,000.

Beard's book, entitled "Pro Frank Beard on the Golf Tour," written in collaboration with Dick Schaap, has stirred up some ripples in the tour ranks just as Jim Bouton's book on after-hours high jinx rocked baseball.

Some critics felt Beard told too much and cast unnecessary aspersions on some of golf's heroes, particularly Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player. Beard denies it.

"I haven't had any direct reaction," Beard said today. "I read some caustic remarks about the book by Jack Nicklaus. And Arnold Palmer hasn't said anything to me, but we were never especially close, anyhow."

"I tried to break the ice with Nicklaus at the Kemper Tournament but didn't get too much response, so I decided not to worry about it."

"Jack and I have never been bosom pals. Our wives are good friends. I've been over to their house for dinner. But Jack wouldn't call me to go fishing or come over for a hand of bridge."

"Palmer and Nicklaus live in different worlds. They fly jet planes. They are rich and very busy. I don't blame them. Some people said I wrote the book out of spite because Jack and Arnie didn't treat me as an equal."

"It's true they don't treat me as equal, because we aren't equals. They have been much more successful than I. But I'm not harboring any spite."

Beard painted Palmer as a jet-piloting business tycoon who is too busy to relax and have beers with fellow pros. He also hinted that Palmer, at 40 and ailing, may have won his last major crown.

He said Nicklaus could be the greatest golfer of our time, winning one or two major crowns and $400,000 every year but lacks the driving ambition to achieve the goal. He kidded Player for his physical fitness fetish.

"There was nothing derogatory about any of it," Beard said. "Certainly, Palmer is busy. I would be, too, if I were in his shoes. I didn't say Nicklaus 'should' win seven tournaments a year. I said he 'could.' There's a difference."

The Rich Westchester, with its $50,000 first prize, was without some of its big names going into today's second round.

Tied with Beard at 68 were the PGA champion Ray Floyd, Gene Littler, Jerry McGee, Mike Ballo and Fred Marti.

Nicklaus, Palmer and Player all shot 72, Bill Casper a 73.

champion, Taiwan, the right to represent the Pacific region at the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., beginning Aug. 23.

Making It Big

He bosses 350,000 men and 38 factories, says the Wall Street Journal—and he makes all of $440 a month, a good three times what his men make. Of course, he doesn't have the limousine and country estate that a high party hack has, but George Podobed has it made in the U.S.S.R.

He's able and hardworking and just wants to do a good job and give his kids a good start. He's visited other countries and would like to see the U.S. We wouldn't advise it. Finding out what he'd be worth over here could make him restless. — Dallas (Tex.) Morning News

Like A Man?

We read the other day that some editors were taking the Women's Liberation more to heart than most.

In fact, a couple of them sent memos to their staffs saying, in effect, beware of describing women in their stories with words like "blonde, cute, dimpled, pert, vivacious," etc.

Shucks what have women got to complain about? How many have been described in stories as blond, grizzled, paunchy, skinny, bulbous-nosed, or phlegmatic? We eagerly await the day some reporter describes a crusty old congressional committee chairman as a vivacious homemaker.—Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

N. Vietnam Force Cut Up by Attack

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces swooped down on North Vietnamese troops gathering in the central highlands and killed 56 in the heaviest fighting in the region in a month, military spokesmen announced today.

Field reports said two U.S. helicopters were shot down in the two clashes Thursday and three crewmen were wounded. No American ground casualties were reported, but two South Vietnamese were killed and two wounded.

American reconnaissance pilots looking for North Vietnamese buildups spotted 20 to 30 soldiers in hill country 22 miles south of Pleiku City. American bombers and helicopter gunships blasted the enemy troops, and three hours later helicopters landed South Vietnamese and American troops.

The U.S. Command said 44 North Vietnamese were killed in the seven-hour fight, more than half of them by air strikes. It was during this battle that two American observation helicopters were shot down.

Other South Vietnamese troops reported killing 12 North Vietnamese soldiers in an encounter 20 miles north of Pleiku City. Two government soldiers were killed in the brief fight.

Intelligence reports indicate increased North Vietnamese activity along the Cambodian border west of Pleiku City. The North Vietnamese are reported returning to the base areas across the border in Cambodia from which the allied raids in May and June drove them.

The U.S. Command said six other Americans were killed and 42 wounded in three mine and booby trap incidents, four small ground contacts, the shooting down of a third helicopter south of Da Nang and two rocket and mortar attacks.

U.S. Envoy Kidnaped in Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A U.S. Embassy official was kidnaped today by left-wing urban guerrillas. They also attempted to kidnap two other U.S. Embassy officers, but failed, an embassy spokesman said.

Police reported the Brazilian consul, Aloisio Comitti, was kidnaped by the Tupamaro guerrilla organization moments after five terrorists seized Dan A. Mitrone, 50, a public safety adviser from Indiana. Mitrone is attached to the Agency for International Development.

Police reported Mitrone was found, apparently wounded, an hour later, in a Montevideo suburb. But a U.S. Embassy spokesman said he knew nothing about Mitrone having been found.

An Embassy spokesman said terrorists failed in an attempt this morning to kidnap Gordon Jones, the Embassy's second secretary, and Nathan Rosenfeld, cultural affairs officer.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some things we might all be better off without:

Doubts and regrets.
Nine out of 10 telephone calls.
Summer colds.

Motorcycles that make more noise than supersonic jet planes.
Airports that have everything in them except something to do in them while waiting.

Lipstick on cocktail glasses ... lipstick on teen-agers ... lipstick on men's collars ... lipstick.

Revolving door marriages.
The idea that there could possibly be anything left for most women to be liberated from except their own whims.

"Go-now-pay-later" vacations trips to Las Vegas.

Late movies on television. They have caused a sleeping problem on the job the next day anything since the invention of the Martini.

Diets made for hum. ing-birds—not men.

The goat fodder served at most cocktail parties.

U.S. Renews Attack on Cereals

By G. DAVID WALLACE

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The heavily fortified breakfast cereals proliferating on supermarket shelves would have to be removed under a revived government proposal.

Renewed action on the eight-year-old proposal follows nutrition crusader Robert B. Choate's Senate testimony last week describing most breakfast cereals as "calories and little else."

The Food and Drug Administration proposals for cereal enrichment would work on both ends of the spectrum—upgrading the content of the least nutritious while dealing a fatal blow to the nine cereals Choate described as nutritionally meritorious.

The proposal is in harmony with long-standing FDA policy of "restoration" rather than fortification, said agency attorney Robert N. Anderson, whose soon-to-be published findings of fact will set the stage for a hearing examiner's decision and presentation to the agency commissioner by fall for a final decision.

"Restoration" refers to adding to processed foods only as much nutrient as is found in the natural state but which might be removed by milling or processing.

"When you begin to play with the food supply for a large population, there has to be a careful monitoring when you set out to change what nature has done," said Anderson in an interview.

Present regulations ban fluoride, vitamin K and folic acid but restrict no other nutrients.

The proposed regulation—posed by the food industry—would permit addition of only niacin, which wards off pellagra; thiamine, which combats beriberi; riboflavin, which promotes healthy skin, and iron, which enriches the blood.

The FDA would require cereals to contain the following percentages of adult daily minimum requirements: thiamine, 10 per cent to 21 per cent; riboflavin, 2 per cent to 4 per cent; niacin, 5 per cent to 10 per cent; and iron, 5 per cent to 10 per cent.

The food industry, with the support of the American Medical Association, has proposed setting cereal fortification limits at between 25 and 100 per cent of adult requirements.

Soviet Space Bomb Bucks ABM System

By JOHN LENGEL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian space bomb that orbited the globe this week is seen by some strategists as the Soviet Union's answer to America's development of an antiballistic missile system.

There is no defense against the space bomb, Pentagon officials said, and the Soviets are believed to have already deployed the weapon.

In announcing the test, the Defense Department warned, "This is further evidence of the continuing momentum of the Soviet development and test program for strategic weapons."

The main response to a space bomb would be the U.S. strategic mix of land and sea missiles and aircraft.

The Safeguard antimissile system, satellite monitoring and new long-range radars all bear on the space bomb but are still under development.

The Soviets tested their space bomb, or Fractional Orbital Bombardment System—FOBS vehicle Tuesday, the Pentagon said.

It was launched from the Soviet spaceport of Tyuratam, Kazakhstan, traveling eastward across Mongolia, Red China, Japan, Chile, Argentina, East Africa and back to the Aral Sea recovery area.

The orbit was as high as 130 miles and as low as 90 miles. The whole trip took 90 minutes. The payload, if any, was not disclosed by the Pentagon.

U.S. planners look at FOBS as a way for Russia to get a sneak shot at American defenses. It is seen as coming at the United States from over the South Pole, eluding the extensive radar warning network already aimed northward for ICBM attack detection. The best use for FOBS, they say, would be a general target such as a B52 air base, or, possibly cities. It is considered less nearly accurate than ICBMs and therefore worthless against such pinpoint targets as U.S. Minuteman silos.

FOBS would descend from its orbit on command, delivering a warhead in the three-megaton range.

Without the new radar or satellite detection, FOBS would cut U.S. nuclear attack warnings to about three minutes. The new long-distance surveillance, however, would provide an hour-long view of FOBS from launch to its first opportunity to impact, making it virtually worthless, planners say.

The Soviets have had 14 FOBS tests—half of them failures.

Boy Killed in Belfast Rioting

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops killed a teen-age boy early today after a small mob of Roman Catholic youths hurled rocks, bottles and gasoline bombs at the soldiers and set an armored car afire.

An army spokesman said the riot, the first in Belfast since July 4, was touched off by the arrest of two youths who later were freed. But City Councilman James O'Kane said a large-scale raid by police and soldiers on his tavern "severely antagonized" residents of the neighborhood and brought the crowd into the street.

The mob scattered at dawn. The army spokesman said the soldiers fired three shots after the mob set the armored vehicle ablaze with fire bombs. One bullet tore into the neck of Daniel O'Hagan, 19, who the spokesman said had been throwing fire bombs. He died on the way to a hospital.

The spokesman said the troops fired after giving "repeated warnings" they would shoot if the fire bombing continued.

The rioting occurred on New Lodge Road, a frequent trouble spot.

Fantastic High Cost of Campaign Is Best Kept Secret in State

By BILL SIMMONS

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Why won't political candidates, chiefly the big spenders, fully report the expenditures involved in campaigns to get themselves elected?

Because the public has such an unrealistically low estimate of the costs that the true figures would cause an adverse reaction among the voters.

The question was raised by a reporter. The answer was supplied by Marion Burton, campaign director for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

King-sized spending is not unique with Rockefeller, Burton added; it is also a part of the campaign of former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, seeking a return to office after four years of voluntary retirement. The key to complete reporting of campaign spending is not merely an accounting for amounts the candidate spends from his personal funds, and not simply reports on donations spent directly by the campaign staff of the candidate.

Large sums also are spent in the candidate's behalf by groups operating in coordination with the candidate's central offices while actually being independent of them.

"There would be an adverse

Blacks Rise Against Own Extremists

CHICAGO (AP) — Black leaders on Chicago's South Side have called for adults to rid their communities of the Black P Stone Nation street gangs, which they claim have taken hold of their neighborhoods through terror, intimidation and murder.

Three Negro ministers vowed Thursday to curtail activities of the black street gang after one clergyman's church caught fire in the early morning.

Authorities said the fire, which did an estimated $25,000 damage to Woodlawn Mennonite Church, was caused by arson.

The Rev. Curtis E. Burrell Jr., the church's pastor who previously had criticized the gang, charged that the Stones were responsible and that members of the gang had fired into his South Side home and into the church, narrowly missing him.

"The truth is out," he told a news conference. "It is time to rid ourselves of the black pimps and white hustlers who kidnap our children. It is time for black adults and black men to stand up."

For a long time the Black P Stone Nation—a conglomerate of Negro street gangs the largest of which is the Blackstone Rangers—has declared that it "runs the neighborhoods."

The group's name comes from Blackstone Avenue, a South Side thoroughfare. Some gang members say the P stands for peace others say for people, while others say it has no significance.

Giant Step for Peace in Mideast

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel accepted today the United States peace proposal for the Middle East and agreed to a three-month cease-fire with the Egyptians.

A government announcement said Israel had decided "to subscribe to the latest peace initiative of the government of the United States and to appoint, at the appropriate time, a representative for peace negotiations without prior conditions" under auspices of U.N. Middle East envoy Gunnar Jarring of Sweden.

Egypt and Jordan have already accepted the plan, but Palestinian guerrilla organizations have split on the proposal with the principal commando outfits vowing to continue the fight.

The Israeli Cabinet reached agreement at its fourth meeting on the U.S. proposal, which encountered strong opposition from rightist elements who had threatened to quit Prime Minister Golda Meir's coalition government if it accepted the American proposal.

The Israeli announcement said the decision on the cease-fire was reached after "taking into account the clarifications provided by the government of the United States."

This was taken to mean Washington's reported reassurances to Israel that it would continue to maintain the Middle East balance of power and prevent any of the warring parties from reaping military advantage from any cease-fire.

The Israelis fear the Egyptians will use a limited cease-fire to beef up their military defenses along the Suez Canal prior to renewing the fighting.

In Cairo, a spokesman for President Gamal Abdel Nasser warned Egypt's Arab critics to avoid "division in the Arab lines" over the American plan and Nasser's acceptance.

In new air action, Israeli planes staged a reprisal raid today on Jordanian army positions following rocket attacks by Jordan-based Arab guerrillas on Israeli settlements.

The military command in Tel Aviv said the Jordanian army has been aiding the guerrillas in their assaults against civilian targets.

Nasser's spokesman, Information Minister Mohamed Hassanein Heikal said in his warning that Israel might undertake a "crazy act" if the Arabs turn their attention to matters other than the "armed struggle with the enemy."

Radiothon on KXAR Aug. 8

A radiothon will be conducted on KXAR Saturday, Aug. 8, at 1:30 p.m., for the benefit of Jimmy Whitten, who is now a patient at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock. He is suffering from a rare blood ailment that is destroying corpuses faster than they can be replaced.

Jimmy is a 1967 graduate of Hope High School and was a member of First Baptist Church Sunday School and Training Union before his family moved to Texarkana two years ago. The lengthy hospitalization has placed impossible financial burden on the family. Several Hope friends have decided to help them as much as possible.

Earl Downs and Bill Stewart are coordinating the effort and will have many of Jimmy's classmates and friends donating at the studio and in picking up contributions.

More details of Jimmy's condition and the family's financial condition will be given on the radiothon.
